DECORATION DAY

Appropriately Observed, and Flowers Liberally Strewn Upon Soldiers' Graves.

Two Processions and an Elaborate Programme.

Wednesday being decoration day and a legal holiday, it was more generally celebrated than usual. The Post Office, Banks and other public buildings were closed, and the children of the public schools were given a holiday. In the morning the colored people formed a procession composed of boys from the City School, Geo. W. Monroe Post, G. A. R., and citizens in carriages, headed by a brass band and accompanied by a drum corps, and marched through the streets and to the far cemetery, where the ritualistic ceremonies of the G. A. R. were gone through with, the graves of the colored soldiers buried there decorated with flowers, and addresses appropriate to the occasion delivered by Revs. J. W. Frazier, J. W. Hawkins, Rev. Hathaway.

In the afternoon at 3 o'clock another procession was formed at the U. S. Custom House, headed by the drum corps and composed of a detachment of militia, who acted as firing squad, A. G. Bacon Post, G. A. R., Frankfort Cornet Band, Uniform Rank of Dexter Lodge, K. of P., Capital Lodge, No. 6, I. O. O. F., forty-four little girls in wagons, each representing different States, followed by the orator of the day, Gen. D. W. Lindsey, accompanied by Judge W. H. Sneed, in a carriage; then came the ladies of the Flower Committee and others in carriages.

The procession moved north on St. Clair to Main and east on Main to the cemetery, where the following programme was carried out.

1. Assembly Call.
2. Reading General Order by Adjutant of A. G. Bacon Post.
3. Services by Post Commander.
4. Music by the Choir.
5. Prayer by the Chaplain.
6. Address by General D. W. Lindsey.
7. Services by the Commander of the Post.
8. Officer of the Day strewing the first flowers.
9. Services by the Chaplain.
10. Firing of Salute by militia.
11. Hymn by Choir.
12. Benediction.

The graves of all the Federal soldiers buried in the cemetery were then decorated with flowers by the forty-four little girls under the direction of the Flower Committee, after which Tattoo and Retreat were sounded by the drum corps, when the procession reformed and marched back to the city.

The attendance at the cemetery was much larger than usual upon such occasions, and shows the beautiful custom of placing flowers once a year upon the graves of the departed heroes is growing in favor with the people of all classes.

Feed on Needles.

The hens at Mr. W. R. Hammond's residence, in Bellepoint, must certainly have gotten hold of a paper of cambric needles lately and devoured the same, for on two separate days last week, when his daughter undertook to prepare eggs for cooking, she found needles inclosed in the yolks of the same. She found four eggs with needles in them, and it is supposed his little girl was sewing on her doll rags in the yard and had the needles out there where the hens found them. It is true the needles could have been placed in the eggs after the shells had been soaked in vinegar, and the opening through which they were forced never be detected, but as the eggs were all home grown, it is not likely any member of the family had been trying experiments of this kind.

It's a Mistake

To neglect caring for a cough or cold. Every time you cough you increase the trouble and soon an inflammation is started that in a short time is difficult to control. Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure has such a magic effect upon a cough, allaying all irritation so quickly, that every person in the land should always have a bottle of this wonderful medicine on hand to begin taking at once upon the first appearance of a cold. It costs only 25c and 50c a bottle at P. H. CARPENTER'S drug store.

Old Center's Commencement.

The young man of the ROUNDABOUT acknowledges the receipt of an invitation to the Commencement Exercises of Center College, which will occur at Danville, June 10th to 13th. The list of Seniors of the year includes 21 young men, among whom are Messrs. Thomas Lindsey Blayney and Albert H. McClure, of this city, both of whom are officers of the class, the former being Poet and the latter Prophet. The invitation itself is an exceptionally handsome and tasteful one, and we expect to live to see the time when it will be an interesting souvenir of the early life of some of the Nation's great men.

The Ladies.

The pleasant effect and perfect safety with which ladies may use the California liquid laxative, Syrup of Figs, under all conditions, make it their favorite remedy. To get the true and genuine article, look for the name of the California Fig Syrup Co., printed near the bottom of the package.

Thrown From His Buggy.

The horse Mr. William Craik was driving to his buggy Tuesday morning became frightened at a street car near the corner of Second and Bridge streets, whirled around and upset the buggy, throwing Mr. Craik out, cutting his head and bruising him about the body considerably. He was taken into the grocery of Mr. H. R. Williams where his injuries were dressed and it was found that he was not seriously hurt.

Read Their Ad.

The new drug firm of Holmes & Baird has a card in another column. They are conveniently located and can supply you with anything in their line on short notice, also have put in a telephone which will be answered at all times day or night. Call and see them when in want of fancy articles or pure drugs, accurately prepared.

I have two little grandchildren who are teething this hot weather and are troubled with bowel complaint. I give them Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and it acts like a charm. I earnestly recommend it for children with bowel troubles. I was myself taken with a severe attack of bloody flux, with cramps and pains in my stomach, one-third of a bottle of this remedy cured me. Within twenty-four hours I was out of bed and doing my house work. Mrs. W. L. DUNAGAN, Bonanza, Hickman, Co., Tenn. For sale by PHIL CARPENTER, South Side Druggist.

100,000 People Die

Annually in this country of consumption. Think of it? One adult out of every six, and yet in the early stages all pulmonary complaints may be readily controlled by Dr. Hale's Household Cough Cure. It is a certain remedy for coughs and colds which if left to themselves bring on pulmonary consumption. Pleasant to take. Children like it. The price is right, only 25 and 50 cents a bottle at P. H. CARPENTER'S drug store.

A man who has practiced medicine for 40 years, ought to know salt from sugar; read what he says:

TOLEDO, O., Jan. 10, 1887.

Messrs. F. J. Cheney & Co.—Gentlemen:—I have been in the general practice of medicine for most 40 years, and would say that in all my practice and experience have never seen a preparation that I could prescribe with as much confidence of success as I can Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by you. Have prescribed it a great many times and its effect is wonderful, and would say in conclusion that I have yet to find a case of Catarrh that it would not cure, if they would take it according to directions.

Yours truly,

L. L. GORSUCH, M. D.

Office, 215 Summit St.

We will give $100 for any case of Catarrh that can not be cured with Hall's Catarrh Cure. Taken internally.

When calling for these letters, say advertised. S. B. HOLMES, P. M.

Wm. H. Wheeler,

A prominent contractor and builder, of Adams, N. Y., was a great smoker for years. He liked his cigar but did not like the serious throat trouble that began to come upon him in the shape of a bunch or growth. As he expressed it he was afraid he was going to have a Grant throat. At this stage he began using Dr. Hale's Household Ointment, applying it directly to the bunch inside his throat several times each day. A few weeks of this treatment entirely cured the bad throat and Mr. Wheeler states that it worked a most wonderful cure in his case and that he regards Dr. Hale's Household Ointment as the greatest medicine of the 19th century. It cures all inflammation. 25c. and 50c. boxes at P. H. CARPENTER'S drug store.

STATE LEAGUE

Of Republican Clubs—The Annual Meeting in this City.

The meeting of the State League of Republican Clubs was held in this city on Thursday and was one of the largest gatherings of delegates from the clubs throughout the State ever held—some five hundred representatives being present.

The delegation from Newport was the first to arrive, and came in a special car attached to the C. & O. train Wednesday night. Thursday morning a large delegation came in from Louisville and points in the western part of the State, on a special train over the L. & N., and the Covington club came in a special drawing room car over the Kentucky Midland, while Lexington, Mt. Sterling and other points east sent in a large representation on the 9:50 morning train.

Each train was met by the Reception Committee of the Garfield Club, of this city, with a band of music and the delegates escorted to the Capital Hotel. The Louisville delegation brought a brass band and the Covington Club a drum corps, and when the special from Louisville arrived a procession was formed which marched through the principal streets and disbanded in front of the Capital Hotel. As the clubs passed through the streets, the comment was universal that they were a fine looking, intelligent body of men, although but few of the leading men of the party were in the ranks.

The League met at 12 o'clock in the Opera House and was called to order by Mr. Sam'l R. Smith, Chairman of the Republican County Committee, who, after prayer by Rev. George Darsie, introduced Judge W. H. Holt, who delivered a short and appropriate address of welcome in behalf of the Garfield Club of this city. President L. J. Crawford, of Newport, then took the chair and after the Secretary had read the official call for the meeting, delivered a short address and declared the meeting open for business, when a motion prevailed that the League adjourn until 3 o'clock in order that the district meetings might be held to select members of the different committees and district delegates to the National League, which meets in Denver, Colorado.

When the convention re-assembled after dinner the several committees made their reports, which were adopted, and the following delegates from the State at large to the meeting of the National League at Denver were elected: Chas. G. Richie, of Louisville; Thos. J. Ballard, of Lawrenceburg; Hon. D. G. Colson, of Middlesborough; John Feland, jr., of Owensboro; Hon. W. O. Bradley, of Lancaster, and Gen. D. W. Lindsey, of this city.

Four delegates from each Congressional district were also elected, those from this district being Messrs. Grant L. Roberts and C. D. Bercaw, of this city, George Thompson and George W. Bosworth, of Lexington.

The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: L. J. Crawford, of Newport, President; Wood. G. Dunlap, of Lexington, Vice President; D. H. Stine, of Newport, Secretary, and W. H. Van Winkle, of this city, Assistant Secretary. The meeting then adjourned and a mass meeting was held at night, which was addressed by Sam Pinkerton, Esq., of Wood ord, Maj. A. T. Wood, of Mt. Sterling, and Co. Weedon O'Neal, of Covington.

Slaughter House Burned.

The slaughter house of Mr. John Ries, located near the Colored Normal School, on the Versailles pike, was destroyed by fire about 11:30 Thursday night. Loss is about eighteen hundred dollars on building and machinery, with only eight hundred insurance.

THE NEW F. F. V. LIMITED.

Important Change in Schedule of the C. & O.'s Pet Train.

Commencing Sunday, May 13th, the F. F. V. Limited will leave Cincinnati daily at 12.20 noon, arriving at Washington at 7:40 a. m., Baltimore 9:00 a. m., Philadelphia 11:20 a. m. and New York 1:40 p. m. The train will consist of Composite Car, Elegant Day Coach, with Smoking Compartment, Dining Car, Pullman Sleeping Cars of the latest and most improved design, and an Observation Car. Emphasis is especially placed on the Observation Car. Built by the Pullman Company from Chesapeake and Ohio plans, the F. F. V. Observation Cars serve their purpose better than any others that have ever been constructed.

As the F. F. V. Limited is the only train having an Observation Car attached, it necessarily follows that the Chesapeake and Ohio R'y alone has scenery interesting enough to demand an Observation Car. The F. F. V. Limited is the only train running through from Cincinnati to New York that enables the business men to transact business in Cincinnati one day and New York the next. It is the only train for Jersey City Coast resorts, which are reached by the F. F. V. at dinner time instead of in the evening. It is the only train that enables business men to transact business in Cincinnati one day and reach Washington for breakfast the next morning. It is the most desirable train for New England resorts, connections being made in the Union Depot in Washington with the Colonial Express running through to Boston which reaches New Haven 4:10 p. m., New London 5:30 p. m., Providence 7:15 p. m. and Boston 8:30 p. m. The F. F. V. is the only modern train lighted throughout with Electricity, carrying a Dining Car and an Observation Car.

The Washington and Atlantic Express, also an Electric Lighted Vestibuled train, will leave Cincinnati at 7:00 p. m., reaching Washington 2:40 p. m. and Old Point Comfort 6:00 p. m. Connection is made at Washington with the Boston Express or the Limited, reaching New York about 9:00 p. m. At Norfolk connection is made with the Old Dominion Steamship Line, reaching New York 3:00 p. m. the next day.

SPEND YOUR OUTING ON THE GREAT LAKES.

Visit picturesque Mackinac Island. It will only cost you about $12.50 from Detroit; $15 from Toledo; $18 from Cleveland, for the round trip, including meals and berths. Avoid the heat and dust by traveling on the D. & C. floating palaces. The attractions of a trip to the Mackinac region are unsurpassed. The island itself is a grand romantic spot, its climate most invigorating. Two new steel passenger steamers have just been built for the upper lake route, costing $300,000 each. They are equipped with every modern convenience, amusements, bath-rooms, etc., illuminated throughout by electricity, and are guaranteed to be the grandest, largest and safest steamers on fresh water. These steamers favorably compare with the great ocean liners in construction and speed. Four trips per week between Toledo, Detroit, Alpena, Mackinac, St. Ignace, Potoskey, Chicago, "Soo," Marquette and Duluth. Daily between Cleveland and Detroit. Daily between Cleveland and Put-In-Bay. The cabins, parlors and staterooms of these steamers are designed for the complete entertainment of humanity under home conditions; the palatial equipment, the luxury of the appointments, makes traveling on these steamers thoroughly enjoyable. Send for illustrated descriptive pamphlet. Address A. A. SCHIANTZ, G. P. & T. A., D. & C. Detroit, Mich.

To Trustees and Teachers.

All trustees of white schools must be able to read and write.

A teacher holding a third-class certificate cannot teach in any district reporting fifty-five (55) or more pupils in census report. One holding a second-class certificate cannot teach in a district reporting seventy-five (75) or more pupils.

A contract, to be legal, between trustees and teachers, cannot be made before the 1st of July.

Only one third-class certificate can be issued to any one person.

Examination of colored teachers next Friday.

Thrown Against a Fence.

Mr. Nat. F. Richardson, the South Side groceryman, was returning to his home in the country Sunday afternoon and when he reached the top of the hill on the Louisville pike, the horse he was driving became unmanageable, and commenced to kick and run, throwing him out of the vehicle against a stone fence and bruising his face and shoulder severely. He was rendered unconscious for some time by the fall.

Making Rapid Progress.

Little George Smith, the violinist who played here at the Opera House about two years ago, has made such rapid progress at the College of Music at Cincinnati, as to astonish all those who have heard him. George has many friends here, and all will welcome his return. There are nine hundred students at this institution and the little man is a great favorite among his classmates.

Confederate Decoration.

Quite a large number of ladies and gentlemen went to the cemetery Saturday and strewed flowers upon the graves of the brave men who fought for the cause which was lost and now sleep the last sleep in the City upon the Hill. The ceremonies were simple, as usual, but were nevertheless touching, as they gave evidence of the fact that though gone they are not forgotten by the loved ones and friends left behind.

Improving.

Mr. B. D. Orford, who was shot by John Snider, near the Spring Hill Distillery last week, is improving slowly and will, we are glad to say, soon be all right again. Snider, the man who attempted to assassinate him, is still at large, and is not likely to show up here again soon as he would very likely receive a sentence to the penitentiary if caught.

REPRESENTS A BIG PILE.

Certificate of Deposit for $100,000 Lost Between Here and Chicago.

The notice below is from the Chicago Record of several days ago. Inquiry at the State National Bank revealed the fact that the certificate is still missing and hopes of its being found have been abandoned:

Somewhere between Frankfort, Ky., and the First National Bank of Chicago, is a missing certificate of deposit for $100,000. It was issued originally by the American Exchange National Bank, of New York, to William Stewart Tod. Mr. Tod passed it along to Mason, Hoge & Meyer, and they put it in the State National Bank of Frankfort. The State National mailed it to the First National of this city to be placed to its credit. That was ten days ago, and neither bank has seen or heard of the valuable certificate since.

The young man who manages the correspondence with the outside banks for the First National said that nobody was likely to lose anything by the disappearance of the certificate except the interest on the money, which amounts to considerable with such a sum floating around idle. "But," he said, "it makes a lot of bother for the banks. The Frankfort bank has to ask the New York bank for a duplicate of the certificate of deposit. The New York bank waits awhile and then issues a duplicate, but it first makes the Frankfort people give a bond to protect it against the possibility of the original turning up properly indorsed. In that case there would be more trouble and somebody would suffer, but, of course, it will be all right.

"In the meanwhile those Kentuckians are losing interest on their $100,000 at the rate of about $12 a day, and the postoffice authorities are worrying at a much costlier rate than that over the disappearance of the paper. The very size of the certificate, and the fact that it bears bank indorsements, will be a protection against any attempt at fraudulent negotiation."

Crossing the Atlantic

Usually involves sea sickness. When the waves play pitch and toss with you, strong indeed must be the stomach that can stand it without revolting. Tourists, commercial travelers, yachtsmen, mariners, all testify that Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is the best remedy for the nausea experienced in rough weather on the water. Nervous and weakly travelers by land often suffer from something akin to this, and find in the Bitters its surest remedy. No disorder of the stomach, liver or bowels is so obstinate that it may not be overcome by this prompt and thorough remedy. Equally efficacious is it for chills and fever, kidney and rheumatic trouble and nervousness. Emigrants to the frontier should provide themselves with this fine medicinal safeguard against the effects of vicissitudes of climate, hardship, exposure and fatigue.

TO THE MULE.

How wonderful are thy works, thou most stubborn and perverse part of creation. When thy master wishes thee to work, thou workest thy heels and kickest thy master's vehicle to flinders; and if thy master attempts to punish thee for thy misdemeanor, thou kickest him also. Oh, how awfully dost thou kick thy kicks! Where landeth one of thy kicks, there is another not needed. And how innocent dost thou seem at all times. Thou wilt be very good for two whole years to get to kick thy master when he stoopeth over to pick up his hat, and when he recovereth, if he does recover at all, thou lookest just as innocent as before to get to kick him again. Surely, thou nimble heeled monster, thou art worse than the devil; for though the devil doth sometimes rest from his infernal work, thou kickest on forever.

SCRUB.

"Many of the citizens of Rainsville, Indiana, are never without a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in the house." Says Jacob Brown, the leading merchant of the place. FRANKFORT ROUNDABOUT

FRANKFORT, JUNE 2, 1894.

Base Ball.

That game Saturday with the Louisville Athletic Club team came up to expectations in all respects but one—it was not as hard-fought and close as was expected. It was a beautifully played game, however, the absence of rank errors being very gratifying.

Big Ben Sanders, the regular pitcher for the visitors, was unable to come, and they were obliged to put their substitute, Berry, in the box. Except during the first inning he was quite effective, and his fielding of the position was superb. Maloney, as usual, was a Chinese puzzle, and if his support had been a trifle more lively a shut-out would have resulted. Their safe lead made the boys just a little careless, but as the game was won no one had a right to kick.

The game was decided in the first inning. Lindsey led off with a single, and Mathews went him one better with a double, Henry going to third. With two on bases and none out everybody felt good, but when Lew. Brown and Wintersmith flied out in succession and no score resulted, matters didn't look so rosy. Jeff Brown came to the rescue, however, and by a pretty hit brought in two. VanDerveer, Merchant and Hale also followed with singles, and two more scores were chalked up, all four being earned. Maloney retired the side by a grounder to Glazebrook.

No more scores were made on either side until the seventh, when with two out Lew. Brown made a pretty three-bagger and came in on Wintersmith's hit. The visitors got their first run in the last half on Merchant's error in dropping the ball when he touched Steele out at third, the latter coming in on Vernon's hit. One more was made by the locals in the ninth while the L. A. C.'s made their last effort in the eighth, but were only able to bring their total up to two.

The official score:

THAT GAME AT VERSAILLES.

The Frankforts, accompanied by quite a number of local enthusiasts, went to Versailles Monday to play the team of that place and a red-hot time they had of it. It was a pitched battle from start to finish, and when it was over every Frankfort man who was present felt like giving three cheers and a tiger. It was necessary to whip nine men at ball-playing, then to beat the umpire, and lastly to stem an audience which for ferocious guying and inability to take defeat gracefully exceeded anything we have ever seen. Scraps and angry discussions were such a feature of the game that, although it was one which could ordinarily have been played in an hour and a half or an hour and three quarters, it took two hours and a half to finish it. Every close decision was given to the home team, and many of them were so manifestly unjust that even disinterested spectators from the Capital of Woodford were amazed.

As to the game itself, it was impossible to play a clean fielding game under such circumstances and all the Versailles' scores were directly tracable to the errors made by the Capital City lads as a result of the guying and roasting which they received. The tale can best be told by the score which is appended without further comment:

WEDNESDAY'S GAME.

The Louisville Legion Club came up to play at Thorn Hill Park on Wednesday, and was beaten in a game which was only kept from being rather tedious by occasional fine plays. The home team made seven scores in the first inning on a single, an error, a base on balls, another error and a triple and four singles in rapid succession, and after that it was a foregone conclusion as to who would win the game although the visitors made a great rally in the last inning. The batting of Mathews, VanDerveer and Swango; Mathews' base running and pretty running catches by Hale, VanDerveer and Wintersmith were the most pleasing features of the club's playing.

NOTES.

The Georgetown team will cross bats with the locals at Thorn Hill to-day at 3:30, and a good game is expected. Maloney and Brown will be the battery.

Two games have been arranged for next week. Shelbyville will be here on Tuesday, and Lexington on Saturday.

Mathews has been hitting the ball in every game. He has made ten hits in the four played since he joined the team.

Charley Swango has gotten his eye on the ball at last. He promised before the game Wednesday to make a hit and his batting was the feature of the game.

The home team still make errors, but the team play is 100 per cent. better than it was the first game.

An Intelligent Hound.

On Sunday evening last Mr. Theodore Davis lost a very fine pair of gold spectacles on the Bald Knob pike, between the first toll gate and Mrs. M. Walston's store. Mr. Davis and some friends made a diligent search for them that afternoon and the next day, and advertised for them along the pike, but failed to find them. To the surprise of Mrs. Walston, a small hound puppy belonging to Mr. Met. Smith, brother of our County Clerk, brought the glasses and case to her store on Thursday, with no injury whatever to the spectacles.

Why Don't You Stop.

These words are very familiar to our readers, as not a day passes without the report of the sudden death of some prominent citizen. The explanation is "Heart Disease." Therefore beware if you have any of the following symptoms: Short Breath, Pain in Side, Smothering Spells, Swollen Ankles, Asthmatic Breathing, Weak and Hungry Spells, Tenderness in Shoulder and Arm, Fluttering of Heart or Irregular Pulse. These symptoms mean heart disease. The most reliable remedy is Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, which has saved thousands of lives. Book of testimonials free at J. W. Gayle's who also sells the New Heart Cure.

Deaths.

ROBERTS—Mrs. Louisa Roberts, died Thursday night at the home of her son, Mr. William Roberts, on Short street, after a protracted illness, aged 64 years. The deceased was born and raised in this county, but after her marriage removed to Shelbyville, where she lived for many years, her husband being a practicing attorney in that city and Louisville. After she became a widow, some fifteen years ago, she removed to Bellepoint and continued to live in that place and this city until her death. She leaves seven children, viz: Mrs. Robert Choate, Mrs. Lew. G. Choate, Mrs. Annie Reed, Messrs. E. J. and William Roberts, of this city, Mrs. Kate Morris, of Hatton, Shelby county, Mrs. Ella Bryant, of Cincinnati. The deceased was a most excellent Christian lady, having been a member of the Beech Ridge Baptist Church for more than forty years, and to her the grave had no terrors, it being but the portal to the beautiful life beyond.

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the residence of her son and the remains were interred in the cemetery.

Matrimonial.

Madam Rumor has it that a well-known young business man of this city will claim a bride from among the fair daughters of a city in the north-western part of the State noted for its beautiful women.

Hon. Anthony Joseph Carroll, of Louisville, Speaker of the House of Representatives, and Miss Sarah Frances Holt, daughter of ex-Chief Justice William H. Holt, will be married on Wednesday evening next at 6:30 o'clock, at the First Presbyterian Church. After the ceremony an elegant reception will be given the happy pair at the home of the bride's parents, corner of Shelby and Campbell streets.

A BLACK FIEND

Robs and Attempts to Murder an Unprotected Woman.

Mr. Joe Jordan, foreman on the farm of Col. C. E. Hoge, near Jetts Station, came to town one day last week leaving his wife at home alone. Sometime after he left a negro man went to the house and inquired for Mr. Jordan and upon being informed by his wife that he was from home, the negro asked for something to eat. Mrs. Jordan told him to wait until her husband returned when she would have dinner and would give him what food he wanted. The negro then stepped into the house and demanded that she give him her husband's money, but when informed that there was none in the house, he caught her by the arm and forced her to take everything out of a trunk and finding no money he told her that he would kill her, made Mrs. Jordan throw her apron over her head and drew a knife across her throat, marking the skin. He next made her take everything from a bureau drawer, when four dollars was found which the black scoundrel pocketed, and again told the lady he intended to kill her, ordered her a second time to throw her apron over her face, and just as the poor woman was in the act of doing so she heard her husband's step at the front of the house and screamed to him to kill the black fiend.

The negro ran out the back door and Mr. Jordan rushed for his gun, but became entangled in the things strewn about the floor and did not succeed in getting the weapon down from its place on the wall until the negro had gotten quite a start on him, but followed as soon as possible, and seeing that the negro was outfooting him fired a load of buckshot at his fleeing form, and thinks he wounded him in the hip. The negro continued to run and was soon concealed in the bushes down a ravine. The neighborhood was scoured in search of the negro but nothing has been seen or heard of him since. Should he be caught in that vicinity the courts would hardly be bothered with his trial.

Struck the Wrong Man.

A book agent was in the city the first of the week who was just spoiling for a fight and frequently boasted of his pugilistic powers. He secured an order from Mr. Frank Cannon, of Crutcher & Starks, on Wednesday, but before he left the premises Frank decided not to take the books, and following him to the street countermanded the order. At this the fellow became insulting and threatened to "do" him up. Frank stood the abuse until an offensive epithet was applied to him, when he slapped the face of the would-be pugilist, and closing in upon him was rapidly spoiling his beauty when bystanders interfered, and separated them. As it was, the doughty bookist received a blow on the side of the head which he will remember for some time, and he has probably concluded that Frankfort is the wrong town; and "Dago" the wrong man, to tackle for a fight.

A Young Groom.

Mr. Clarence Rogers, of Tioga, this county, and Miss Bertha Vaughan, of Lexington, eloped to Jeffersonville, Indiana, Wednesday, where they were married. The groom is but sixteen years of age while the bride is twenty-two. The young lady was visiting an aunt and uncle in the neighborhood of Tioga when the elopement took place.

Shutting Down.

The few distilleries which have been running in this section for the past two months are beginning to shut down. The Old Oscar Pepper Distillery of Messrs. Labrot & Graham has stopped running and Messrs. W. A. Gaines & Co.'s Hermitage closes down to-day.

Fail to do Their Duty.

Everybody has at times failed to do their duty towards themselves. Hundreds of lady readers suffer from sick headache, nervousness, sleeplessness and female troubles. Let them follow the example of Mrs. H. Herbrechter, Stevens Point, Wis., who for five years suffered greatly from nervous prostration and sleeplessness, tried physicians and different medicines without success. But one bottle of Dr. Mille's Nervine caused sound sleep every night and she is feeling like a new person. Mrs. Elizabeth Wheeler, Laramie City, Wyoming, who tried all other remedies, declares that after three week's use of the Nervine for headache, nervous prostration, etc., she was entirely relieved. Sold by J. W. Gayle. Trial bottle free.

Three Shots Fired.

Some person, presumably a burglar, was discovered on the roof of M. Busam's confectionery about two o'clock Thursday morning and the police made an attempt to capture him and fired two shots in his direction. After sending one bullet in reply the party disappeared and no trace of him has since been found.

Some Lessons From the Pollard-Breckinridge Trial.

A lady friend sends us the following article from the Union Signal, with the request that we publish the same:

It is with a sigh of infinite relief that we write finis over against the record of crime, hypocrisy and pollution which has been dragging its fulsome slime through our courts and through our press for the past six weeks.

Nor is that feeling of relief due to the fact that Colonel Breckinridge has been found guilty. He did not need the verdict of twelve men to declare him guilty. His sentence had been pronounced by a deeper, a more unmistakable voice. Out of his own mouth the mind and conscience of the American people had judged him, and though the jury had unanimously acquitted, that judgment would not have been reversed.

It is without doubt a cause for profound thankfulness that the jurors spoke so clear and swift a sentence; that the guilty man receives condemnation at the court of justice as well as at the tribunal of public opinion, but our chief cause for rejoicing to-day lies in the fact that any verdict has been pronounced; that the trial is ended; that this mass of moral corruption can no longer flaunt its insistent existence in the sight of high heaven; that being of the earth, earthy; of death, deathly; of putrefaction, putrid; it may at least be consigned to its only true environment, the charnal house of oblivion.

We shall not undertake to review the disgusting details of the case. We speak to a consistency which does not come under Judge Bradley's sweeping indictment against human "buzzards." The Union Signal would have its readers "of too pure eyes to behold iniquity," save as the Son of Man beheld it, that through beholding, he might redeem from it. If there were in this case no lessons of value to us in our work "for God and Home and Humanity," we surely should not touch upon it. Because we believe there are such lessons we dare the "descent into Hades," and strange to say, the lessons we find are chiefly of encouragement and cheer. First, we learn that there is a sure growth in the public mind regarding the one moral standard for men and women. Whatever may be one's individual opinion as to the conduct of the associated press in sending the details of the case broadcast over the land, there can be but one opinion as to the manner in which those details have been received.

The American people almost to a unit have condemned Colonel Breckinridge's defence as unworthy of manhood. It is not the women of our nation alone who have denounced Colonel Thompson's detestable assumption that the defendant was on trial for a universal sin. The men, not primarily of the churches, but men of the world, men of the secular press, men of the Union League Club, men high and low, have cried out against it as a personal insult.

Not the women of our nation alone, but the men as well, have risen to thank and bless Judge Wilson for his clear, unfaltering statement that there is but one code of moral purity for men and women alike. To those who have watched this trial with the memory of an instance not a decade ago, when charges of a somewhat similar nature were brought against an aspirant for public honors, the growth of sentiment upon this line is nothing less than phenomenal. Surely it presages the dawning of a brighter day.

The second lesson is of like nature, but is one which fills us with a still gladder surprise, and it consists in the fact that we seem to be approaching a day in the world's history when the man more than the woman is to receive public condemnation, if it be clearly proven that he, more than she, is responsible for guilt. Madeline Pollard has not posed as a saint. We have no desire to lessen her manifest sinfulness. A disgraced woman, guilty in the sight of God and man, pitiful to a degree which God only can know, but which those who see God most clearly because "pure in heart" can dimly apprehend—she stands to-day. God himself cannot give back to her that which she has lost. Eternity cannot restore what she has so wantonly thrown away. This we all know; this is the orthodox standpoint from which the "fallen woman" has been viewed since the world began. We would not have her viewed otherwise. Not a mistaken condoning but a true valuation of woman's sin can alone bring to her salvation from sin. But in this trial, side by side with the "fallen woman" there has appeared a new factor—the "fallen man"—and behold we find that he is regarded as an object of greater abhorrence than is she. The public mind actually discriminates between the proportionate guilt of the man of fifty; the husband of a loving wife, the father of children, the Christian philanthropist, the silver-tongued advocate of high moral ideals, the man who had been elected by the franchise of his native State to a position of honor and responsibility in our national life—it discriminates, we say, between this man and a woman of twenty, who, at best, could have known but little of life, who came to him for counsel as the friend of her dead father. And lo! the discrimination is in favor of the woman as against the man.

Society at large—not "religious" society alone—dare boldly to say, "He is more guilty than she. He! His very manhood made him the rightful friend of every unprotected woman. His own fatherhood made him the father of a universal girlhood. The vows of Christ upon him made him the champion of the weak against the strong. If she were an erring, easily tempted girl, it was his duty to save her from herself. If, as he claims, she tempted him, what right had he—a Christian Man—to yield to such temptation? What right had he, having yielded, to cover up, by fraud, by lying, by false promises, by persistent hypocrisy, for nine long years, during which he posed as a model man, his own pollution? The cries of his own children whom he tore from the arms of her who, however sinful, was still their mother, and consigned, without a single parental instinct to the hands of strangers, condemn him as being without heart and without moral sense. The personification of cruelty and hypocrisy he must remain through the ages. Compared with him, the woman—the partner in his guilt—walks in white, blameless."

Yes it has really come to pass that for once in the world's history it is the man who stands in the midst of the indignant throng while humanity writes his condemnation.

Let not that condemnation be from woman's lips as absolutely merciless as the one he has been pronouncing upon her since the world began. It is hard to pity a whited sepulcher, but after all a whited sepulcher demands pity from the very fact that it is what it is—an attempt to cover up corruption. Let us be careful that it be not because the man is condemned that we rejoice, but because we recognize in the very fact that the man can be thus condemned a better hope for both man and woman.

After all, in the truest sense, men have been greater sufferers than women through the false social code which has condoned in the one what it has condemned in the other. Men, more than women, have been wronged by the damnable theory of wild oats sowing. By just so much as sin has been made easy for them have they lost their chance of attaining righteousness. By just so much as sin has been made hard for woman her birthright of purity has been made more secure. Therefore, when the sinful man is cast without the camp even more pronouncedly than is the sinful woman, it means the bringing in of a better hope for the world. It means that when it is once understood that the men and women sink to the same level of degradation it will be demanded that they rise to the same height of purity.

That white-haired man going out of the court-room, friendless and alone—as so many women have gone out of like places—marked the beginning of a new era in the world's redemption. Now is the salvation of humanity nearer than we had believed.

Our last lesson has been not only the "exceeding sinfulness" but the exceeding miser of sin to the sinner. Is any woman likely to follow Madeline Pollard's example through envy of her happiness? Is any man likely to find in Col. Breckinridge's life his ideal of what makes life worth living? If there be nothing else written all over this lurid record of two sinful lives it is the old and yet, in the depth of its divine philosophy, the ever new message—"The wages of sin is death." Death to happiness, death to hope, death to love, death to all possibilities of life here and hereafter. Was there ever an example of higher powers more wantonly squandered? Not happiness, but such misery, such shame, such reproach, such confusion, such beggarly equivocations and dastardly hypocrisies as the very devil who inspired could almost pity.

Verily, "the way of the transgressor is hard" and it grows harder as men know more clearly the "way of the Lord" for body, mind and soul; in the individual and in society as a whole. The Christianity of the days to come will make it an easy thing for a truly repentant sinner to come back to God and truth; but for those who flaunt their brazen immorality and putrescent hypocrisy in the face of the world there shall be found "no place for repentance."

There are other minor lessons to be gathered from this trial. To us, these three are the pivotal ones, and we rejoice that they are brought out in such unmistakable colors. Surely, however deep the depths of depravity revealed by this trial, there is hope for the race. We have long known that "A curse from the heart of womanhood is very bitter and salt and good," but when that curse shall be increased in volume and intensity by one equally "bitter and salt and good," welling up from the heart of manhood and directed against all false and debasing moral standards, against all impurity and unrighteousness everywhere—then the end of the curse shall be forever attained; and in the light of the new city "descending out of Heaven from God," "every curse shall be no more."

The readers of the ROUNDABOUT will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
